It is a fair antumnal day,

The ground is strown with yellow leaves;
The maple stems glean bare and gray,
The grain is bound in golden sheaves;
Afar I hear the speckled qualis

Pipe shrilly 'mid the stabble dry,
And multion bears from busy flash
Wildly the kear ware by Within the barn wear by,

The latest roses now are dead, Their petals scattered far and wide, The sunnich berries, tichly red, Bedeck the land out either side; A dreamy calm is in the air— A dreamy come; the sea; Ah, never was a day more fair Than this, which bleszes me!

I see the shocks of ripened com-The yellowed moses on the roof, The diamond dew-drops of the morn That string with genas the spider's woof: An azure haze is hanging low, About the outline of the hills, And chanting sea-fewl southward go From marshes, that and kills.

For many years, the autumn brought A solemn sudmss to my .cv!— It sombred r'en my lightest thought, And on my gayest mone as stole; "Twis sad, yet sweet—a strange elloy Of hope and forrow intertained—"This entropy before yet only for This natumn brings me only joy, No shadow labout my mind.

And why is this? The dead leaves fall-The blossoms wither as of old;
And winter comes with snowy pall,
To wrap the cath to chill and cold; The sea-fact, strong attacent the sky, Still chart their claimive monotone, And why, when bayes and blossoms die, Should I feel joy alone. O ask me not-1 must not tell;

I dare not all my is not disclose-A fairy wore a magic spell Around me, when decayed the rose; Two gills did fathing summer bring— Two symb is of untading bliss-Upon my finger glows a ring, Upon my lips—a kiss!

THIS THE OF THE STEAMER OLD COLONY. The steamer Old Colony, having been repaired and once more put in condition for service, went out on an engineer's trial trip yesterday afternoon. The accident by which she was disabled occurred on the first of May last, and as the result has shown, was of a very serious nature. The engine was so hadly disabled, there has had to be put to a new head plate, mr pump cross, bead, innin cross head, cylinder, condenser, expansion rings, steam chests and councetions throughout. The work has been done under the immediate supervision of James Mahony, chief engineer of the line, who has had the sole charge of the improvements, and whose success was demonstrated by the trial given on this occasion. The repairs, we are told, of the engine alone, have cost the Company about $30,000.

The trial trip was under charge of A. S. Becke, chief engineer of the boat. He was accompanied by chief engineer, Geo. E. their attacks upon their storchouses that they may rob and pillage them and inake way at once with the whole heard of bread-stories.

Literary Notices, Avenican Mermorass. By Rev. M. L. Scudder D. D. with an introduction by Rev. Joseph Commings D. D., L. L. D. President of Westleyan University. 8. S. Scranton & Co., Publishers, Hartford Conn. When this work was projected by Dr. Scudder there was no history of American Methodism worthy of the name, except that of Dr. Abel Stevens which, though an excellent standard, is too voluntuous and expensive for general effectation. The present volume, which contains nearly six hundred pages, is an ficiently full to satisfy all .ordinary readers, and by its low price is brought within reach of all who wish to become more fully acquainted with the rise and progress of this branch of the Church. It is admirably written and like the subject sketched abounds in incidents of thrilling interest and pathos. Its perusal by persons outside of the Methodist communion would correct many misapprehensions, while to members of that church it must afford much encouragement as they see the hand of God In the dealings of the past. It is now a hundred years since Methodism took its rise America. The Methodist Episcopal Church alone, which does not include the churches south, has now 1,039181 communicants and over 7000 ordained pastors with lwenty-five Universities and Colleges, and seventy-seven Seminaries and Academies of learning. One million scholars are found in her Sunday schools alone. Her missionaries are in every part of the world, and her offerings of money for purposes of hencyo-lence exceed those of any other religious bedy. The history of a church rising from obscurity to such magnificent propositions in so brief a period cannot full to be of interest to all classes of readers. Dr Scudder is entitled to the thanks of the public for having brought that history within reach of all, in a work so admirably adapted to the wants of the general public. The volume is illustrated with fine engavings, and is pervaded by so catholic a spirit that it can be read without offence by those of every creed. We commend it to all who wish a more in timate knowledge of this largest of the religious bodies of America. Especially claborate and Interesting -- The Phrenological Journal for November-containing fine Portraits, with accurate Biographies, of General Samuel R. A VOLUME IN FEW WORDS.—During a po-litical contest at a Republican caucus recent-ly held in one of the towns of Worcester county, at which the question of license or prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage was of paramount interest, a gentleman who has been sadly addicted to genteenan was non as occur saday addicted to its use was found acting carnestly with the prohibitionists and against licensing. His argument was brief, but cloquont and conclusive. When asked why he acted on that side, he replied by saying,—"Should a license law he enacted, that house (pointing to an old dilapidated hotel across the way) would be itensed. would be licensed, and there are too many nen like myself in this town, who could not go past it without stopping if liquor was sold there."

The Beaver.—Mr. In H. Morgan of Re-chester N. Y., who has made the heaver a subject of study for several years, says that on the southern shore of Loko Superior he found remains of long canals and dams con-structed by them for the purpose of transstructed by them for the purpose of transporting their trunks of trees two or three feet long, from the place where the trees had fallen to their lodges. Some of these can's were 300, 400 and 500 feet long. They were generally three feet wide, with an average depth of three feet. In order to maintain a continuous depth of water, they made dams at certain distances, and followed the Chinese man—to whom the lock lowed the Chinese plan—to whom the lock was unknown—of drawing their cargo from one level to another.
